JT's 'Believe' kicks off in Yarrabah

Johnathan Thurston's JT Believe program was launched at Yarrabah State School last week.

JT Academy Head of Community Programs Joel Johnston said they would be working with 10 young girls from the primary school.

"We're super excited to be delivering our first programs in far north Queensland," he said. "They're big supporters of Johnathan and his playing career, and he wants to give back to those communities through the academy."

"The launch went well and the girls certainly represented the school, their families and the community well."

He said the girls had to apply for the program and go through a selection process from there.

"They had to demonstrate they're achieving and making their best endeavours to engage in their education," he said.

"And also show they're good role models and leaders in the community."

He said at the end of the program, which was supported by the JT Academy, Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet, Yarrabah State School, Council and the wider Yarrabah community, there would be an opportunity to attend a camp and meet Johnathan.

Well done Verna!

Verna Harris celebrated 25 years of service to the Council last week, most of that spent keeping our community's wheels turning in payroll. Thank you Verna!

New strategy for reef protection launched

An Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Strategy for the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park was launched last week by the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority after extensive consultation with Reef Traditional Owners, Indigenous organisations, tourism bodies and government agencies.

Marine Park Authority Board Chairperson Ian Poiner said it was about working in partnership with Traditional Owners.

"The ultimate goal is to keep Indigenous heritage strong, safe and healthy, which includes the natural values of our Reef," he said.

"Containing 30 actions, this strategy will transform the approach to Indigenous heritage protection in our amazing World Heritage Area, and both the Authority and Traditional Owners are excited to be a part of it."

More than 70 Reef Traditional Owner groups from Cape York to Bundaberg were invited to provide valuable input in developing the strategy, with more than 35 Traditional Owner groups attending workshops.

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Strategy for the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park is available online or go to www.gbrmpa.gov.au.

Maths conference adds up to experiencing Yarrabah visit

Positive Mathematics for Indigenous Students (PM4IS) held the second day of their second ever annual conference 'Networking: Adding Communities, Multiplying Success' at the Menmyny Museum earlier this month.

More than 50 university students, principals and teaching staff from across the country enjoyed a day of touring and walking the Museum and grounds before a BBQ lunch with local community leaders and teaching staff.

The group presented the community with a symbol of pi.

Health checks bring their own reward

near they are aiming higher.

HEALTH CHECK is a vital screening which assesses a person's physical, mental and emotional health.

Health Checks give an early picture of health issues and helps to identify problems early and prevent complications.

There are also an opportunity to talk with a health professional about other issues.

A Health Check tests your Health and Wellbeing by taking your temperature, weight, height and pulse; and testing your eyes, ears, sugar levels, blood and skin.

YPHCs ARE ON NOW from Monday to Thursday between 10am and 5pm until Tuesday APRIL 16.

You can earn a free phone credit for having a health check and a free Deadly Choices t-shirt for returning to see your results.

DRIVERS BEWARE!

There are new SPEED BUMPS around town.

Look out for them on Beach Road, Mourigan, Djenghi, Oombunghi, Wungu Road and Noble Drive.

Motorists are urged to drive with extreme caution.

Band Festival huge success
MORE PICS INSIDE!

It hardly needs to be said this year's Queensland Music Festival's Yarrabah Band Festival was a huge success with thousands of people making their way over the 'bump' to enjoy a laid back day of music, dance and culture.

"We had a lot of visitors, family and friends come from throughout far north Queensland and even from our Torres Strait communities," Mayor Ross Andrews said.

"The highlight for me was just seeing all the artists get up and perform, from our local artists through to the more prominent musicians - there was a lot of talent on show."

"I particularly want to thank Minister Kate Jones for her attendance and support for the event which I think is about reconciliation and how we can unite people through music, art and culture."

"I also want to thank our local member Curtis Pitt and Bob Katter, and Mayor Eddie Newman from the Northern Peninsula Area."

"We believe it was a very successful event and continues to be bigger and better every year."
