

Pride of Palm Island

Top: Palm Island hosted the 'first ever' Year 12 Formal Graduation last week. The students loved the formal event, which was held at the PCYC function room. Teacher Lynette Kim Sing organised the event which was a huge success.

Right: A great day for our little Palm boys, Aaron

Thaiday-Jantzen says. "Big congratulations to two boys I'm very proud of, Isaac Geia and Michael Sibley, who have graduated today along with the other boys who won awards," he said.

Below Right & Below: Graduating students from Bwgcolman Community School visited Cowboys HQ to tour the stadium where they also happened to catch up with Cowboys co-captain Matt Scott. Staff from Connect n Grow, with whom the students had been completing a Certificate in Indigenous Health, were also there. Students took part in a presentation by former North Queensland Cowboys player, Life Member and Manager of the Cowboys High Performance Unit Paul Bowman.

Pride of Palm

This year's graduates all said, "We are more resilient, now. We can handle things, better than before," teacher Lynette Kim Sing writes...

I am not surprised. Every day in the classroom they would hear, 'every day counts, show your commitment, have good discipline, make the right choices, pick each other up when someone falls, believe in your own ability, you are capable, build a strong mind and your positive outlook will get you over the finish line'.

The students in this year's Year 11/12 class feel like we are a family group, we have such a close connection with each other.

This, I believe, was a major contributing factor to the 2015 group of Year 12s becoming the most successful group to date.

At the end of 2014, plans were made for a formal graduation for 2015. I was fortunate, to get the full support from the PCYC and the PIASC councillors. The PCYC allowed us to use a space that had not been previously used for functions, and it was the perfect space for our formal graduation. The PIASC made donations to the school which covered the costs of the barge fees and motel fees for the caterers. Samuella Castors and John Castors, put together a team of people to decorate the function room, it was beautifully decorated and well-suited to the occasion.

I was the MC and host of the event. Speeches were made by Bwgcolman Community School Principal Ross McHutcheon, St Michael's School Principal Gary Recklies, Mayor Alf Lacey, BCS Deputy Dave O'Shea, Councillors Edward Walsh and Mislam Sam, and our very Special Guest Speaker – Iaga Viri.

For the 2015 graduates, a special presentation was made by Crs Walsh and Sam to this group for being the most successful group to date. They were presented with gifts from the PIASC – seven graduates, received Samsung 6 Galaxy Smart Phones and two graduates – Kathleen Haines and Heath Lacey, who are entering a university pathway in 2016 – received Laptop Computers.

It was the bringing together of people from different areas of the community, including the police – Senior Sergeant Frank (the BCS Adopt-a-cop).

Everyone enjoyed the formal graduation and it was a great night of celebration.

As the Senior Secondary Co-ordinator of the Bwgcolman Community School, I am extremely proud of the 2015 graduates, I feel that, after sharing their educational journey for the last two years, they are now, well-equipped with the tools, to be able to take-on challenges, solve problem situations, have the confidence and courage to follow their new pathway into employment or further studies, with their goal of achieving success.

Joyce Palmer staff celebrate long service

Joyce Palmer Health Service's longest serving staff were honoured last week at a ceremony to thank them for their dedication to health.

Eleven staff members celebrated up to 20 years' of providing quality health care to the Palm Island community.

Director of nursing at Joyce Palmer Health Service, John Rallings said he was delighted to see the commitment to the care of patients on the island.

"This level of commitment is exemplary and provides much valued support to locals receiving care at our facilities," Mr Rallings said.

"Those being recognised today are vital in providing person-centred care to patients and are all deserving of this honour."

The length-of-service certificates were presented by Townsville Hospital and Health Board member Donald Whaleboat and Townsville HHS interim chief executive Kieran Keyes.

St Michael's fund raiser update

Over past weeks senior St Michael's students involved in the fundraising activities have used their creative talents to decorate wooden crosses with Aboriginal dot painting.

The students put a lot of effort into their art work and their beautiful crosses sold in no time.

In fact people were even asking for more.

As reported last week, the proceeds are used to buy gifts to surprise community elders and others in the community who might be struggling this Christmas.

The students are now busy packing bags and boxes with all the items that have been donated by kind-hearted customers of the local Retail Store and staff members of St Michael's.

The Christmas fund raiser has also received much appreciated support from Nicole Willis and Lillian Willis, who organised a very successful raffle at the Coolgaree Sports Bar and Bistro.

The lucky winner, Frances Doyle, took home a scrumptious meat tray donated by our friendly butcher Robert Hopkins.

A big thank you to Mr Hopkins and the Willis sisters!

St Michael's students will be distributing the gift bags and boxes in the first week of December, just before their school holidays.

A fish and chips lunch at the Sandy Boyd Aged Care Centre is also included in their plans of Christmas surprises.

The students hope very much to be able to bring some smiles to the faces of all the children, families and elders who will receive the gifts.

As the fundraising activities are coming to an end, St Michael's student leaders would like to thank everyone who kindly supported their activities – your contribution is greatly appreciated!

The North Queensland NRL Provan-Summons premiership trophy visited Palm Island early last week, as the community took their turn at dreaming a little and being inspired.

St Michael's Principal Gary Recklies said the pupils were inspired to see the trophy on their island.

"We all loved having the chance to touch and gather around the powerful symbol of belief that anything is possible when you put enough work into it," he said.

Cowboys Community Relations Co-ordinator Bruce Muller said Palm Island was an important leg of the trophy tour to many places.

"Students, staff and community members had the chance to view the trophy at both Bwgcolman Community School and St Michael's Catholic School," he said.
