The iconic Hilton Cairns has emerged from extensive refurbishments as one of Tropical North Queensland's most contemporary hotels.

Following in the footsteps of the great Hawaiian builders, we're proud to present the...

Ukulele

Handmade from solid Blackwood, [a relative of Koa] it's tonal qualities are rich & earthy with a brilliant top end augmented with well-rounded bass response.

Maton

"The best money I ever spent was my first ukulele in 1974, a Maton soprano. It's where I started, where I learned, and now my old friend has a companion, the wonderful Maton concert." A.J. Leonard

Welcome to the fourth edition of the Cairns Ukulele Festival!

How time flies! I can still clearly remember the early days of planning the very first one like yesterday. As the Festival grows each year, so does the number of people involved.

This year, I have been blessed with a great team of people who have helped with various organisational tasks. I'd like to specifically acknowledge the following people who have taken on co-ordinating roles this year: Ursula Lyons (Project and site manager Saturday and Sunday), Aleta Tulk (Uke Art Exhibition), Shirley-Ann Rowley (Volunteer co-ordination).

Also thanks to two key back office people, Sherran Cullen (Administration) and Tiffany Smith (market stalls assistant) and of course the dozens of volunteers, many of whom have travelled from afar, to contribute to this festival.

The Festival is run by non-profit organisation Cairns Ukulele Club Inc. As such, the Club relies on sponsorships, grants, volunteers and other support to fund and host the festival each year.

We would like to thank all of those businesses and organisations who contributed to the festival, many of whom have supported us right from the start.

The festival events and line-up showcases the different aspects of both the ukulele and Cairns venues and sites – from jazz to Hawaiian, to ska to pop, this Festival has it all!

The Far North Queensland beaches, rainforest, reef, Pacific Ocean, hotels and traditional pubs will all be backdrops for the performances by ukulele royalty from around the globe and enthusiastic amateurs and community groups from across the country alike.

FROM THE FESTIVAL PRODUCER

Building on the great partnership between Cairns Hilton and the Festival started last year, we have increased our number of concerts staged at the hotel, particularly in the ballroom which we have transformed into "Tiki Ukulele Lounge" and the beautifully set Six Degrees Bar.

The Kala Opening Night, the Australian Ukulele Showcase, ukulele workshops, and the Finale Concert will all be held at the Hilton.

We're also back on Great Adventures Green Island after a detour to the Low Isles last year. Green Island is the world's largest tropical atoll. Let's hope Craig Chee makes it over there this year without getting seasick!

Of course the Eddy Finn Ukulele Mystery Tour will again show a double-decker busload of ukulele players local sights with performances along the way.

Live music venue and iconic pub The Jack on Spence Street hosts the second Lanikai Ukulele Party Night on the Saturday of the festival.

The Uke Art Exhibition found a new home in the Pier Shopping Centre, allowing us to create an amazing exhibition space.

Lastly, the Community Concert Day featuring the famous World Record attempt will be held again on the Esplanade foreshore, at Fogarty Park allowing thousands to gather for hours of free entertainment and record-breaking fun!

Thank you for attending the festival and participating in what started out with a simple vision: a festival that brings people to Cairns and a community together to make and enjoy music and art, through one small instrument: the humble ukulele!

One of the highlights of the Cairns Ukulele Festival is the Uke Art Exhibition, featuring the works of over forty artists who have all contributed to help raise money for charity.

Over previous years we have raised thousands for the Duchenne Foundation (2010), Harald's House (2011) and COUCH.

This year the Salvation Army will be the beneficiary of our efforts.

Each artist is given a ukulele to decorate, paint, or reconstruct. Artists never cease to amaze us with their creativity and approach to this diminutive instrument!

As well, this year, the festival will create a most exciting exhibition space within the Pier Shopping Centre in the CBD of Cairns.

Within walking distance of all the ukulele action this year, make sure you stop by and check out the artwork and place a bid on your favourite uke for a piece of ukulele history and to help out a worthy cause.

TIKI CARVING

Owning a tiki is like owning a piece of Oceania and everything associated with the island lifestyle. This is your chance to create your own tiki carving under tutelage of the world-renowned Marcus Thorn! Marcus is fast becoming one of the most highly respected tiki carvers in the world.

His carvings have featured in various Hot Rod Magazines, movies for NBC Studios New York and Warner Bros Movieworld Gold Coast as well as carvings in Hawaii for hotels and the restoration of antique carvings/tikis.

PAINT 'N' PLAY

Let the uke art exhibition at the tanks inspire you and participate in this 2 hour painting workshop with Greg Dwyer followed by 1 hour ukulele lesson by legendary ukulele instructor and music book author Mike Jackson.

UKE 'N' PLAY UKULELE

Mike Jackson will host various learn how to play the ukulele workshops during the festival, some as part of the Paint 'n' Play workshops and one during the opening night, as well as during the Lanikai Ukulele Day.

BUILD A KOALOHA UKULELE

In this two day workshop, you will have fun with some of the KoAloha crew straight from Hawaii, while assembling your very own genuine KoAloha ukulele.

You will be sweating, sanding, and gluing, and learning along the way.

Bryan Tolentino & Halehaku Seabury

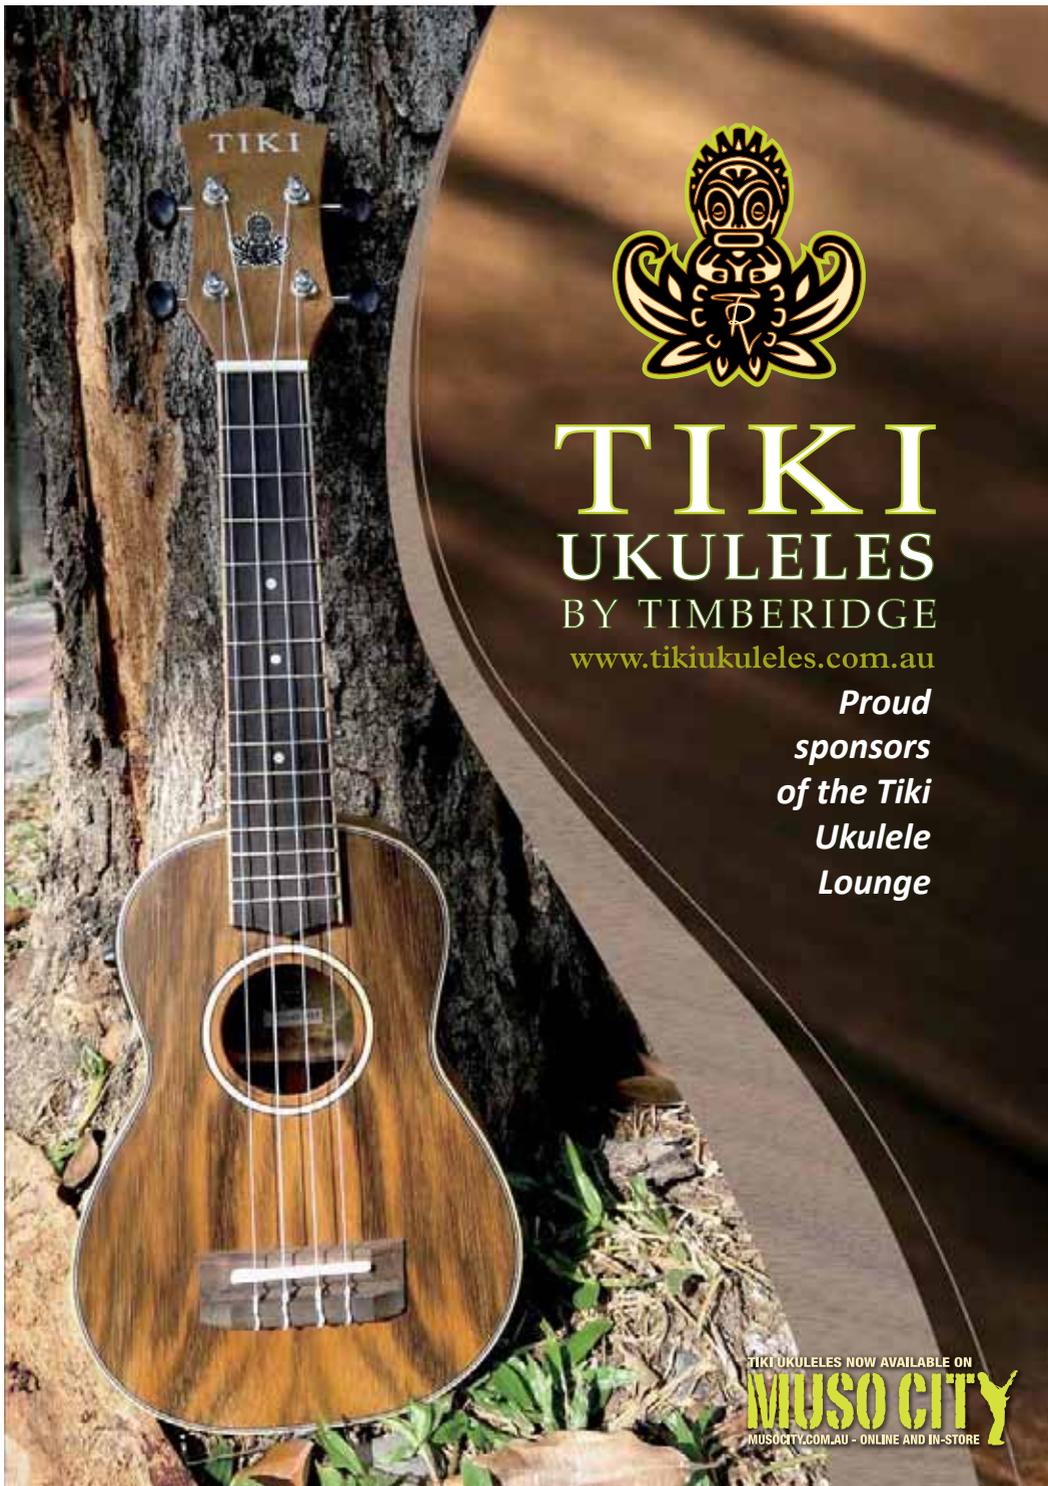

Bryan Tolentino is a Hawaiian music legend. A self taught ukulele player from the island of O'ahu, he started playing the ukulele at the age of 10. At the age of 12, his best friend Asa Young first introduced him to playing Hawaiian music on the 'ukulele. Bryan will be joined by Hale Seabury, a young Hawaiian guitarist and traditional falsetto singer who also plays in the award-winning Hawaiian band, "Na Hoa". Together they will bring Hawaiian tradition, music and 'aloha' to the Cairns Ukulele Festival.

Sarah Maisel (USA)

Sarah studied violin extensively, before seeing the unlimited possibilities of the ukulele. There are very few players that focus on emotive touch and feel, whilst highlighting the fine nature of the instrument, and its suitability for jazz music. Not only that, Sarah is one of the very few female players that has such skill, charisma, and love for this genre of music on the ukulele. In addition to that, she has a wonderfully warm and expressive voice that covers styles from New York to New Orleans .

The Sweet Hollywaiians (Japan)

The stars of the 2011 Cairns Ukulele Festival will return this year after wowing crowds as the head liners of the 2011 Cairns Ukulele Festival. This 4-piece string band from Osaka were formerly street musicians, all with a love for Hawaiian, Swing, Ragtime, Blues, Calypso and Italian music. Together they have a brand of music unique in today's musical landscape, but oh so true to the Tin Pan Alley style and era. Each member of the Sweet Hollywaiians plays the ukulele as well as multiple instruments.
